

New Annadanam Hall

As you may have noticed, during the past four years, with your support, we have completed many much-needed projects and improvements to our temple complex. One such project, a new Annadanam hall has remained an unfulfilled dream. However, some years ago, the conservatory was built and used as a temporary place for serving Prasadam and Annadanam.

Currently, to our delight, we are witnessing a remarkable growth in devotee numbers and this trend appears to be continuing. As a result, the existing conservatory, the kitchen, the store, and the waiting area have all become grossly inadequate.

Providing proper facilities to prepare and serve the Prasadam and Annadanam to our devotees have become our pressing priority.

No one can be happy with the current situation of long queues of devotees, young and old, waiting for a long time, in inclement weather, outside the conservatory for Prasadam. The resulting frustration felt by the devotees is equally shared by the temple management, the staff, and the serving volunteers.

Consequently, the Trustees have now decided to construct a new Annadanam hall as part of their ongoing improvements of the temple complex.

We are aware that this is a major project, and it needs substantial funding. We are confident that our aspirations are realistic. As ever, with the blessing of Lord Balaji and generous donations and support from the devotees, our long-awaited dream can become reality to serve the devotees for generations to come.

Please see the banners for further details about donation towards this project.

With Lord Balaji's blessing,
